PASSION ALLOCATOR

Let It All out

Vomit out everything; your likes, dislikes, what you feel parents, schools or friends have imposed on you and what you like the idea of, what do you dream about doing or being. Then go for a walk

PASSION ALLOCATOR

Separate that vomit into these four categories

IDEA OF

PASSION SURVEILLANCE

How to find out what others know about you .

TOP TIP #1! Ask these questions and fill in the answers yourself. It may lead to more questions, therefore more information that will help.

TOP TIP#2! Print and ask as many people as you can! You may start to see a pattern emerging.

TOP TIP #3! Ask people from different parts of your life; immediate family, distant relatives, friends, teachers....the larger the net you cast the better!

TOP TIP #4! Arrange a good time, make sure the person you are asking questions has quality time to give you quality answers.

TOP TIP#5! There are some questions on the next page but write some of your own questions. Get what you feel you need to know!

TOP TIP#6! Once you have finished write your findings down in paragraph form. This will help your brain!

TOP TIP#7! Hearing about yourself can be challenging. Think of it as two people (you & interviewee) talking with the intention of helping a good friend (You).

TOP TIP#8! Remind yourself of the goal, to find your passion, this is a stepping that will be forgotten in time.

TOP TIP#9! Learn to become comfortable talking about the uncomfortable. This alone will breakdown many future barriers.

TOP TIP#10 Always thank people for their time and always offer your time to develop relationships!
